

11 Of Our Favorite Events In Chicago This Week

BY MICHELLE MEYWES IN ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT ON NOV 30, 2015 10:00 AM

Dave Chappelle begins a residency at Thalia Hall on Tuesday. Photo via Live Nation

We hope you've slept off your Thanksgiving feasting, because there's a lot going on around town this week.

THURSDAY DECEMBER 3

CONCERT: Death Cab For Cutie and Best Coast headline the 93XRT Budweiser Big Holiday Concert at Chicago Theatre at 7:30 p.m. The local station has hosted tons of artists in StudioX sessions, often spotlighting indie artists. Tickets are \$49.50 to \$59.50.

REPEAL PARTY: Celebrate the end of Prohibition with the Chicago History Museum on the eve of the anniversary of Repeal. Put on your best 1930's style garb for The Last Speakeasy, an evening of music, dancing and of course cocktails. Tickets are \$85 or $150 for VIP. 6:30 to 10 p.m.

HOLIDAY SHOW + SALE: More than 600 artists set up shop at the One of a Kind Holiday Show & Sale at the Merchandise Mart today through Sunday. Find unique handmade items from independent artists to give as gifts or pick up a little something for yourself. Tickets are \$12 or $18 with a limited edition canvas tote bag. The mart opens at 11 a.m. today, but hours vary each day so check their website for times.